

&

Historical Society of Long Beach

Present

The Second Annual
Long Beach Community Studies Conference

Call for Papers

Commemorations: Looking Back, Moving Forward

Saturday, February 11, 2012

Sponsored by Long Beach City College Foundation, the Bixby Knolls Business Improvement Association,
the Port of Long Beach & Port of Los Angeles

Call for Papers: Please provide a one page proposal describing your presentation, and short biography. Also include your name, address, telephone number, and email address. You can submit a proposal for a single paper or panel of several papers.

Deadline for Submissions: December 1, 2011

The Long Beach City College Community Studies Program and the Historical Society of Long Beach have teamed up to plan a Community Studies Conference about Long Beach planned for February, 2012.

In this era of local centennials— Women's Suffrage in California, Long Beach Day Nursery, Port of Long Beach, Long Beach Symphony, the First Transcontinental Flight, the Long Beach Water Department, and others we convene the Community Studies Conference with the title, Commemorations: Looking Back, Moving Forward. The overwhelming success of the first conference gives us great hope to assemble another group of independent scholars, community researchers, faculty members, archivists, librarians, and students alike to discuss Long Beach and its environs.

This year we hope to attract additional scholarship about a wide range of local topics. Historians, geographers, political scientists, anthropologists, sociologists, economists, architects, journalists, demographers, and those working in American studies, California Studies, women's studies, ethnic studies, environmental studies, health science, Pacific Rim studies, regional development, and other areas to share their research and projects.

The conference will be held at the Historical Society of Long Beach at 4260 Atlantic Avenue, Long Beach 90807 and in the Expo Building across the street.

Planning Committee: Dr. Julian DelGaudio, Dr. Kaye Briegel, Dr. Craig Hendricks, Leticia Montoya, Julie Bartolotto

Email submissions to: craigh@hslb.org Subject line: LBCS Conference

Mail submissions to: LBCS Conference @ HSLB 4260 Atlantic Ave, Long Beach CA 90807