Acquisition Information

The Historical Society of Long Beach (HSLB) acquired this collection from the City of Long Beach, California in 1998. In 2010, this collection was processed and cataloged into HSLB's database by HSLB staff and volunteers overseen by Timothy Friden (MA in History), thanks to a generous grant from the Long Beach Navy Memorial Heritage Association. In 2020 – 2021, a finding aid for this collection was created by Tristan Willenburg (MLIS) and uploaded on the Online Archive of California (OAC).

Scope and Content

The over 5,000 files in this collection comprise over 100,000 pages of records from the city manager's office of Long Beach. Long Beach was an early adopter of the city manager form of municipal government, where a professional official manages the day-to-day operations of the municipality with oversight, policy, and budget decisions made by an elected city council. This collection is not only locally but also nationally significant. The files begin in 1921 with the first city manager Charles E. Hewes, and continue into the early 1950s. These files document how a series of managers dealt with challenges such as building and maintaining the City's infrastructure, the discovery of two oil fields in the city, annexations that doubled the city's size, a major earthquake in 1933, the development of a world-class harbor, the Great Depression, the Second World War, and citizen concerns including racial issues. These files not only shed light on the city's development; they also illustrate the United States Navy's important role in that process. The types of files include correspondence, handwritten letters, departmental reports, legal documents, city resolutions, copies of defunct newspapers, state and federal legislation, maps, blueprints, photographs, and more. These materials detail the workings, concerns, and challenges of municipal government in Long Beach, California.

Biography/Administrative History

Starting in April 1921 the city managers of Long Beach collected records and correspondence that documented the challenges that each faced in administrating the city. When each manager departed, they left behind the papers that they and other city administrators had accumulated. Initially, these files were located in the 1930s City Hall. Later they moved into the Loynes Garage (also known as the City Garage), a building that the Long Beach Redevelopment Agency (LBRDA) acquired while it was revitalizing downtown. When the City of Long Beach constructed a new administration building in 1976, the files in this collection remained in the City's working automobile Garage until it was demolished in 1998. The files were then transferred on the advice of the City's Neighborhood and Historic Preservation Officer, Ruthann Lehrer, to the Historical Society of Long Beach (HSLB), led by Executive Director, Julie Bartolotto. HSLB has attempted to preserve the files in the organization of each city manager.

This method has serious disadvantages which should be clearly understood: the Air Raid Warden shelter becomes a gas trap, due to its semi-buried condition, as well being plowing raids, there are difficulties where the series is not low enough to permit the sever line to be hooked up. Dr. Michael Walsh of San Diego, authority on gas deconstraination, recommends that Air Raid Warden Shelters are not necessary and reasonable protection can be obtained in a less expensive manner.
