The Honorable Gerald Ford
President of the United States
The White House Office
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

The United States of America has historically been a haven and refuge for innocent victims of war. We have been willing to set aside usual immigration requirements and welcomed the innocent, the women and the children of war-torn lands.

We, the undersigned, appeal to you, Mr. President, to lead the United States government in bringing about such an act of compassion toward Cambodians. We ask you to take a humanitarian stand for these distressed people. The pain and suffering of the Cambodian people require the setting aside of usual immigration practices so these people can emigrate to the United States.

Let us act immediately, let us offer refuge!

Respectfully,
